

THE KEPFER SOLUTION OF COD LIVER OIL IN EXTRACT OF MALT.

The Kepfer Solution contains only two foods, Oil and Extract of Malt (Kepfer), the former being dissolved in the latter. It is the pleasantest and most efficient preparation of Cod Liver Oil known. It is safe, and will accept nothing else. The British Medical Journal recommends it as "An ideal form for the administration of fat." Patients grow fat upon it when other forms of oil cause distress and pain. To be had of all Chemists.

Patent Tax, their petitions had been rejected and the collection of the tax had been entrusted to the Lord of the Mint, that they were to tax him, his to go to the mint, and to do it in a secret business, and that that was why they refused to carry out their contract, that the whole idea of a secret this refused to hold stocks and business according to it, had come to a standstill. There are, they say, several tens of thousands of men dependent on tobacco working for a livelihood, and if there is no demand in the market for these tobacco workers, there is no other means of securing money to buy their rice their families must starve. They have therefore been obliged to appeal to public opinion in the hope that the benevolent country will bring the matter to the notice of the high authorities and procure from them the withdrawal of the onerous authority given to the mint to collect the tax and allow the tobacco syndicate to collect the tax.

What between protests from the Consuls and strikes among the trades the Victory must wish the Battery Tax at the devil, and between the pressure on the one hand to extract the collection from the Consuls or the Mint Office, and on the other to leave the dealers in the various articles to raise the amounts wanted by private arrangement among themselves H. E. must be worried to death.

The leading article advocates the establishment of a Board of Trade to improve the condition of Chinese commerce and prevent foreigners getting all the profit; advocates also the establishment of the issue of patents to protect new inventions.

At the tobacco market held every morning at daylight in the Wastong suburb a woman examining a jade bracelet offered for sale has been snatched from her hands by a passing thief, and a row ensues, the shopkeeper trying to make her responsible.

A new way of making money has been discovered by a gang of robbers and plunderers. The master of a flour mill in Fatsang, giving a large sum of money to the police, who give him a receipt and give him a receipt, has given them a drug which makes their face swell up, and then charges them a heavy fee for extracting it.

A rice shop in Fatsang reported to have been attacked by a gang of robbers and plunderers.

The master of a flour mill in Fatsang, giving a large sum of money to the police, who give him a receipt and give him a receipt, has given them a drug which makes their face swell up, and then charges them a heavy fee for extracting it.

Another woman arrested for kidnapping.

A married woman slopes twice from her husband because he has lost his fortune, puts him to the task of offering $30 to recover her, and having done so, when he has given up all that is left to her.

THE ACCIDENT TO THE E. AND A. STEAMER "GUTHRIE."

The following address was presented to Captain Shannon, of the E. and A. steamer "Guthrie," after the safe arrival of the vessel at Manila.

Manila Bay, 9th Oct. 1890.

To Capt. SHANNON, Eq. Commander S. S. "Guthrie."

Dear Sir,—We, being of the wife of the saloon passenger steamer "Guthrie" from Port Darwin to Hongkong, cannot allow the occasion of our leaving your ship to pass without availing ourselves of the opportunity to place on record our high appreciation of the many good qualities displayed by you under the very trying circumstances of your leaving the voyage, for what could be more distressing to you, as command of a steamer stripped of her propeller, in the midst of one of the most awful typhoons ever known, in a sea running mountains high, and helplessly drifting on to the leeward.

We are deeply sensible that, under Providence, we owe our lives to the pluck, determination, and good fortune which you, on your oceangoing day after day, and night after night, have had to exert in your service, and that, in fighting as it were to the last gasp, in which you were nobly seconded by your officers and crew, you succeeded in saving your ship, and one hundred and forty lives, at a moment when all we expected to be cut to pieces on the rocky reefs within an hour.

We trust that you will accept this as a proof of the very high regard and esteem in which you are held by us all, and with many good wishes for your future prosperity, and for the happiness and welfare of yourself, your wife, and your family, we have great pleasure in signing ourselves your very faithful obliged friends.

CO. CORRESPONDENCE.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our Correspondents.)

OFFICIAL PAY AND RATE OF EXCHANGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Sir.—It would be interesting to know what were the precise vital principles Lord Knutsford had in his mind, and whose contemplated violation he so fully rebuked in the first paragraph of his letter on the question of the interests of the Chinese in the colonies, for which he affirmed the necessity of those being in his currency instead of a sterling rate payable in the former. The Governor seems to have made a recommendation in favour of the latter arrangement, so that apparently, like a garden wall, a good deal may be said on both sides, and all that can be equally true and susceptible of proof, as far as the records of the Chinese in the colonies go, but the question is, who will take the initiative? Our general Consul might, for once in his life exert himself in the interests of his countrymen, or, perhaps, the Christian Brothers, who have done such an iniquitous amount of good here, might start a school, and thereby the eternal gratitude of a large number of the Portuguese community whom their teaching has so vastly benefited. I remain, Sir, yours truly,

SPECTATOR.
